

A tall, clear glass filled with a vibrant red liquid, likely strawberry syrup, is the central focus. The glass is packed with several large, clear ice cubes. A single, fresh green mint leaf is perched on the rim of the glass, its leaves showing detailed vein patterns. The glass itself is covered in fine droplets of condensation. To the right, a portion of a white bottle with a red label is visible; the label features the word 'MONIN' in a large, elegant script and a picture of a strawberry. The background is softly blurred, showing hints of more strawberries and a warm, bokeh light effect. The overall composition is a close-up, emphasizing the textures of the ice, the freshness of the mint, and the rich color of the drink.
